ALF TAYLOR COMING

TENNESSEE ORATOR AND STATES MAN TO DELIVER ADDRESS AT OUR CHAUTAUQUA-3RD DAY.

RECALLS "WAR OF ROSES"

setween Alf and His Brother Bob, Bob Became Governor and Alf Went to Congress-Is Speaker of National Reputation.

When the Chautaugua patrons beat hat Hon. Alf W. Taylor of Tennessee will speak at the Chautaugua on the frernoon of the third day many will wealf the "War of the Roses," which designation was given to the remarkable campaign for the governorship of Ternessee in which the opposing candidates were the brothers Alf and Bob Taylor.

However, in spite of the name gwen o their campaign by the news cosrespondents, there was no real war. for the two brothers entered into the campaign in a spirit of friendly rivalry, including the same towns in their itinerary, visiting them on the same chedule, and speaking from the same datforms to the same audiences.

Many remember that Bob Taylor was the successful candidate but that Alf Taylor so endeared himself to the citizens of Tennessee that he was sent in Congress that district where he was returned several times, finally breaking the political record by voluntarily retiring from political life.

It is probable that few incidents in American politics have excited the wide spread interest of this campaign. The papers of that day devoted pages to its progress. The reputations es-tablished by both brothers as entertatiners and orators of superlative worth resulted in their making a tour of the large cities in a joint lecture— Alf Taylor taking as his subject "Yan-kee Doodle" and Bob Taylor for his

For many years Alf Taylor has led the quiet life of a country gentleman on his fine farm in Tennessee, but he has been induced to return to the lec ture platform for a few engagements this summer.

As a speaker, Alf Taylor's reputa tion rests solely upon merit which has been demonstrated at some of the greatest public occasions in the coun try for the past quarter of a century His oratory needs no fricks or acces-sories because it is clothed in its own natural beauty, majesty and power.

The Bristol, (Va.) Courier says of im: "His realm is quite as splendid and quite as agreeable as any of the golden glows of fancy in which his brother ever revealed to gratify the hearts of an audience."

Alf Taylor is a veritable "Apollo" of the elecutionary art. His elequence burns with a flame divine. He sweeps the heart strings of the soul with the magic touch of a master and stirs them to rhapsodies of responsive har-
